Pam,

However, I think that if we make sure to put an opt out footnote (like attached), that may cover us a bit. I think this is one of those things that a lot of companies do and if they get a warning will stop. It would depend on if a lot of the companies we fax it to turned us in.

Since there isn't a toll free # at corp, do we want to send Pam's calls through the call center? Will that cause more confusion? Would it be best to send them all to WG then transfer Pam's to her cell? Not sure what the best way to do this is – we don't want these people to get the run-around. They need to speak with a person that can help them right when they call in. If we have to call any companies back, there is a much greater chance that we won't get that business than if we are able to answer questions right away when they call.

Here is the info the Customer Care Center already has. However, it does not list to call Marty or David on their copies – so either give the a revised version (attached) or make them write it down.

As we discussed, please speak with them face-to-face and explain how important it is that none of these calls get lost. Explain the order of contacts (Traci/Pam, Marty, David).

Please let me know when this has been done and I will send out the blast fax.

Stacey,

Can you get me lists of companies with 100+ employees – preferably the HR person with their fax number for the following cities and their metro areas:

St. Louis

Des Moines

Chicago

Pam,

However, I think that if we make sure to put an opt out footnote (like attached), that may cover us a bit. I think this is one of those things that a lot of companies do and if they get a warning will stop. It would depend on if a lot of the companies we fax it to turned us in.

David -- do you want me to send this to legal before proceeding?

Since there isn't a toll free # at corp, do we want to send Pam's calls through the call center? Will that cause more confusion? Would it be best to send them all to WG then transfer Pam's to her call? Not sure what the best way to do this is -- we don't want these people to get the run-around. They need to speak with a person that can help them right when they call in. If we have to call any companies back, there is a much greater chance that we won't get that business than if we are able to answer questions right away when they call.

Your thoughts?

Pam: if I put the call center toll free number, will they know to transfer to you? I don't believe there is a toll free number for corp.

Laurie,

The only customer we have on here is FBL Financial in Des Moines. I am just starting on the other cities this year so all should be good to go.

I am not able to open the Omaha sites. Can you try and send it in a different format? Once I get that I will look it over and reply right away.

Have a nice day!
